Storm disrupts road traffic, but little else

Although some Highlanders found themselves unable to get to work last Wednesday morning because of snow and ice conditions, local utilities say the storm was not serious.

Both Hydro's Cal Wilson and Bell Canada's area manager Bill Stevenson said the storm did not have a major effect on their services.

While some people lost hydro or telephone services most were isolated incidents the men said.

"They (power outages) were spotted here and there throughout the Highlands rather than major damages or outages," Wilson said.

Bell's situation was just about the same as Hydro's with individual customers losing service but most of the problems were cleared up within a 24 hour period, Stevenson said.

However, the storm could have had disastrous effects if the snow and rain had frozen instead of melting away, Stevenson said.

"It was quite a snow storm but it didn't have a major effect on us," Wilson added.

On Wednesday, all county schools remained open although Northern Ways buses did not operate, director of education Douglas Hodgson said Tuesday. It is the board's policy to have schools open, leaving the bus runs to the discretion of the drivers. Some independent drivers did make their routes, Hodgson said.

Although the schools were open attendance was low and many teachers were unable to

Contractor agrees to complete repairs at no cost to club

Roof leak ends Minden curlers season

Minden curlers' dream of curling in their new building this winter came to a bitter end on Monday as water poured through the roof and the club had to be closed, according to building committee member, Jim Garbutt.

Last Tuesday, as the curlers were putting the finishing touches on their ice surface and throwing a few rocks, everything looked like the season was about to get underway. But then the rain began early Wednesday morning and water started to pour through the roof.

"Last week we were already to curl, and on Wednesday when it poured rain, the roof leaked on the ice," Garbutt said.

"A fairly substantial amount of water came in and, of course it froze and made the ice unplayable," he added.

With the ice rendered useless, the curling club turned off its ice making equipment on Monday and gave up hopes of curling in the new building this season.

Disappointed at the condition of the roof, the building committee contacted both Ray Knight Construction and Butler buildings, the supplier, to have the situation corrected, Garbutt said.

On Monday representatives from Knight construction and Butler as well as the company which erected the building were at the curling rink to look at the roof.

Garbutt said. During the investigation the men found that the caulking had not been completed properly and screws had missed beams and didn't seal, he added.

"It was the erecting company who created the problem. It was faulty workmanship on the part of the erecting company. The crew that installed the roof is no longer with the company so really, you don't want to point the blame at a specific person when it really isn't their company's policy to do bad work," Garbutt said.

Presently the curling club is negotiating with the builders but Garbutt said they have agreed to fix the roof "as soon as possible" at no cost to the club.

The erecting company has also assured the members the club will be compensated for all damages, Garbutt said. Although a damage estimate is not available yet, Garbutt said the gyprock and insulation could be ruined.

Garbutt said a general meeting is planned for February 25 to explain the problems completely and discuss the club's plans for the immediate future.

Combination of bias ply, radial tires also cited Speed was main cause of fatal crash, inquest told

by Len Pizzezy - Editor

A coroner's jury at an inquest into the death of six people in a two-car accident on Highway 35 last November 14 has recommended that doctors, nurses and ambulance attendants constantly upgrade their emergency care skills and that the dangers of mixing bias ply and radial tires on the same vehicle be more widely publicized.

The three man and two woman jury reached its conclusions and recommendations on the third day of the inquest following two days of testimony about the accident and its aftermath.

Killed as a result of the collision were Jeffrey Hutchings, 18, driver of one car, passengers Rodney Gorveatt, 18, Penny Pripp, 16, and Wendy Schell, 17, all students at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, Donald Faulkner, 53 driver of the second car, and Barbara Faulkner, 50, his passenger. A fourth passenger in Hutchings car, Joseph Dollo Jr. was the only survivor of the mishap.

Testimony on the first day of the inquest focussed on the aftermath on the accident and on the treatment of the two victims who survived the initial impact, Donald Faulkner and Joseph Dollo.

Police, Stanhope firemen and ambulance personnel from Minden and Haliburton were on the scene within minutes of the collision, which occurred at approximately 11:15 p.m. the inquest was told. Faulkner and Dollo were transported to Minden Red Cross Hospital for emergency treatment, and both were subsequently sent on to Peterborough Civic Hospital. Faulkner was dead on arrival in Peterborough, while Dollo underwent emergency surgery and spent several weeks in hospital.

The other victims of the accident were pronounced dead at the scene by coroner Dr. Blair Pierce of Haliburton.

Faulkner's condition following the collision and the steps that were taken to stabilize him for transport to Peterborough were the subject of testimony from ambulance attendants, nurses and nursing assistants at the Minden hospital, attending physician Dr. Anthony Holliday-Rhodes, crown witness Dr. A. W. Lackey, a surgeon associated with Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay, Dr. Roger Hogg, a physician at Peterborough Civic Hospital, and pathologist Dr. William Dalkins.

At the heart of the inquiry was the question of whether or not the insertion of an endo-tracheal tube to maintain an airway to Faulkner's lungs would have been possible given the severity of his injuries.

Attending physician, Dr. Anthony Holliday-Rhodes told the inquest that Faulkner was in shock when he reached Minden hospital, but that he was breathing on his own "with some considerable difficulty."

Subsequent testimony from pathologist, Dr. William Dalkins, who carried out a post mortem, indicated that Faulkner had a brain hemmorrhage, fractures of the upper and lower jaw, a broken neck, a number of ribs broken in three places, a severely broken leg, a fractured ankle, and a fracture dislocation of one elbow.

Faulkner's pulse was 130 and his blood pressure was 80/50 when he arrived at the Minden hospital according to testimony. A chest X-ray showed a number of broken ribs and some evidence of pneumothorax (air in the chest cavity) Holliday-Rhodes told the inquest. He ordered an inter-venous of saline and glucose, and inserted a large needle connected to a water filled bottle to remove the air trapped behind Faulkner's chest wall.

Some 40 minutes after he was wheeled into the Minden facility, Faulkner was placed in an ambulance and was on his way to Peterborough.

Ambulance attendants testified that they continued to suction matter from Faulkner's mouth to facilitate breathing en route, but that his vital signs disappeared approximately ten minutes before the ambulance arrived at Peterborough Civic Hospital.

The fact that Faulkner showed some signs of consciousness, at the Minden hospital and en route to Peterborough, including a reflex reaction to the insertion of the inter-venous needle meant

Bowlers roll for Big Brothers

Scores of bowlers and other interested citizens took time out from their regular schedules to bowl a game for Big Brothers in the first annual Haliburton County Bowl for Millions campaign.

The event raised funds for the Haliburton County chapter of Big Brothers of Canada, a group which matches volunteer men with fatherless boys in the community.

While final results have not been tabulated, as much as $2000 is expected to be raised for the local Big Brothers organization through the Haliburton County Bowl for Millions effort.

The week culminated Saturday at Carnarvon Lanes when representatives of a number of county organizations and businesses, as well as local Big Brothers, gathered to try their hand at knocking down the pins.

Pledges were based on the number of pins a bowler could knock down in a regular ten frame game, with a minimum sponsorship of 100 pins.

Among those who took part in the fund-raising effort were the reeves of several municipalities, including Jim Harrison of Stanhope, Bob Vick of Snowdon, Lloyd Walker of Minden and Ron Gambell of Lutterworth, and

Carnival will go despite weather

The big fun weekend has finally arrived and although weather conditions at time of writing are anything but favourable, with the outlook that we don't want to see anyone disappointed and in the tradition of show business, "the show must go on". Some events may have to be cancelled but the others will go on as scheduled. I stated in my column last week that I would be coming your way again this week with further developments on what you can expect to do and see at the Haliburton Winter Carnival which is scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 20 - 21 - 22. I hope that you are as excited as I am about the weekend that lies ahead. In the remainder of this column I will be talking about certain events that will depend on weather conditions. If the conditions are right they will go off as scheduled; if not they will have to be postponed.

If you attend the carnival you'll be sorry if you miss Race Haliburton '81 which promises to be the most exciting event at this year's carnival. On Saturday, February 21 there will be drag racing on a 650' ice strip, with classes for everything from family to factory. The points champion will receive the Race Haliburton trophy. On Sunday, February 22, it's oval racing on 1/3 mile track for the Echo Cup. This is the biggest race in the county and attracts entries from all over Ontario. It's your chance to see the best.

For all of you cross country skiers may we draw your attention to the Cross Country Ski Tours which will be held on Saturday and Sunday. Skiers who'd like the help of a guide should make a point to be at the museum at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday or Sunday. A member of the Haliburton Highlands Cross Country Club will be on hand to lead the way.

The Hiram Walker Curling Bonspiel will be underway at the curling rink at 4:00 p.m. on Friday with curling continuing throughout the weekend.

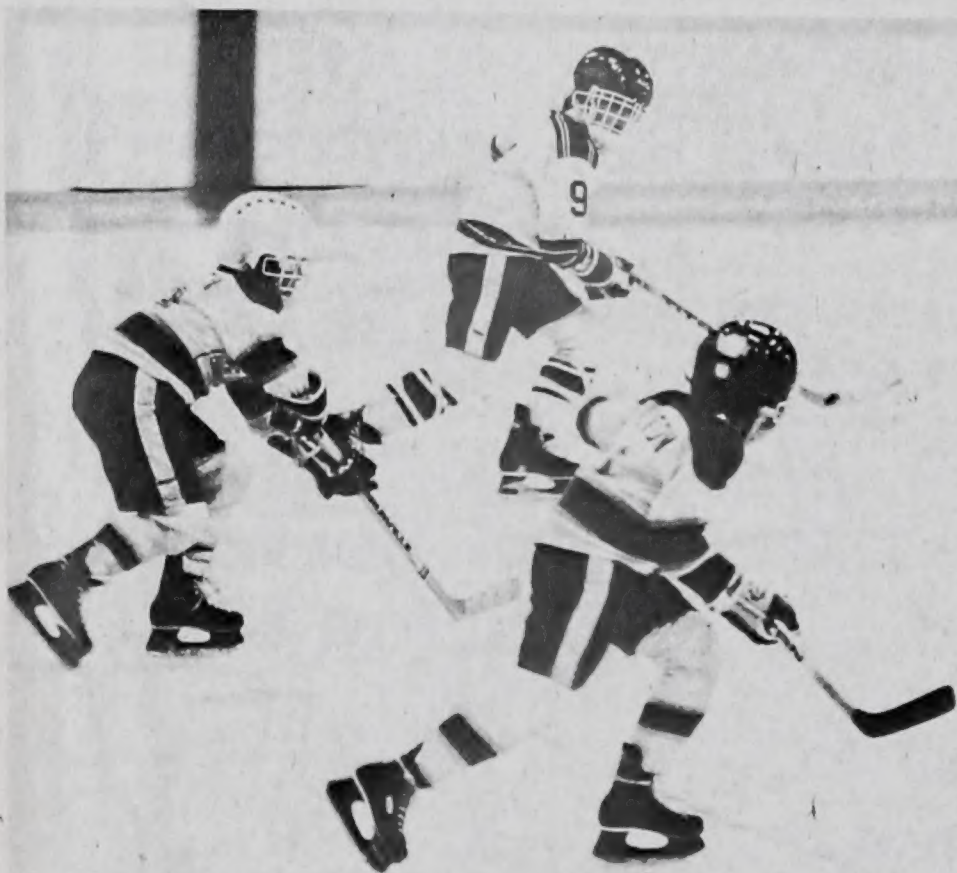

Some of the other attractions you may be interested in will be the outdoor skating party at the Haliburton Ball Park under the lights, the 5th annual Haliburton Chalkdusters teachers' hockey tournament, teen dance at the arena, Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts Exhibition and Sale, free horse drawn sleigh rides at the public dock, fish derby, sno golf and many other events too numerous to mention. They are all waiting here for you. Please participate and have a good time.

On Sunday at 12:30 p.m. the annual Haliburton Scouts' Baden-Powell Day Church parade will take place from the Royal Canadian Legion to St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church.

Why not take an hour off on Sunday to attend the church of your choice in Haliburton or surrounding area. Come in your winter attire and you will be made more than welcome.

I will personally be around all week attending as

Snowmobile races will go despite weather conditions

Snowmobile races at this year's Haliburton Winter Carnival will go on no matter what the weatherman has to offer, according to race chairman Pat Kennedy.

Record warm temperatures have covered the ice track on Head Lake with several centimetres of water, but even if the melting continues, it should have little effect on the race. The track has been cleared of snow and the ice beneath is close to 30 inches thick, Kennedy said, so the warm weather will not do serious damage to the track.

The drag races, which are slated for Saturday, will go on even if the track is wet, Kennedy said. Sunday's oval races will not be cancelled, but drivers may have to be given the option to compete depending on the conditions. If water remains on the track on Sunday, four wheel drive vehicles with plows may be used to push the water off before each race, Kennedy said.

"We've got to go," he said. "We've got too much invested now," (to cancel the race).

Calls have been coming in from across Ontario from riders interested in competing in the weekend's events, Kennedy said.

"Because of the interest, we've added three more

The weather

Almost a foot of snow fell on the Haliburton Highlands last week as a low pressure system swept up from the southern United States, bringing with it high winds, snow and later, rain.

Total snowfall over the period of February 9 to 16 (Monday to Monday) was 30 cm. Some 12.2 mm of rain also fell.

The rain and mild temperatures have caused snow accumulations to diminish, and snow depths now range up to 87 cm. in the northern part of the county.

The temperatures over the week showed a wide variation as the low pressure system was replaced by an Arctic high toward the end of last week.

Highest temperature was 6C. last Wednesday. Monday the mercury also rose to 6C. setting a record for February 16.

The lowest temperature was -29.5C. last Friday morning.

Warm weather which began on the weekend and continued through Tuesday was expected to remain through to the weekend, with rain possible on Thursday and Friday.

Snowmobiling conditions have deteriorated rapidly in the mild spell, and lakes are now covered with impassable slush.

Cross country skiers were finding good spring conditions early this week.

Jury deliberates for four hours following inquest that the insertion of an endotracheal tube, (a device which seals off the trachea but which allows air to be forced into the lungs in cases where rib damage has made normal breathing reflexes ineffective) would have been difficult if not impossible, two witnesses testified. Holliday-Rhodes told the inquest that he considered inserting the tube, but that Faulkner's level of consciousness could have produced a gag reflex, causing him to vomit and possibly asphyxiate. Ambulance attendants had also put a cervical collar on Faulkner to immobilize a suspected neck injury, a factor which would have made the intubation procedure even more difficult the inquest was told.

"I did consider using the endotracheal tube," Holliday-Rhodes testified. But he added that he felt no more time should be lost getting Faulkner to a fully equipped hospital and a chest surgeon.

"I considered the major priority was to get him down to Peterborough."

Dr. Robert Hogg, who was in the emergency room at Peterborough Civic when Faulkner arrived, testified that he attempted an intubation, but that he was unable to clear the airway of Faulkner, who had no evidence of life at that point. He noted that the severity of Faulkner's facial injuries would have made the process difficult to complete had he been conscious. He also testified, in reply to a question from a lawyer representing Holliday-Rhodes, that gagging and vomiting would be "a risk" if intubation were attempted on a conscious patient.

In reply to a question from crown attorney Linda Price, however, Hogg testified that reaction to pain such as Faulkner may have exhibited, was "pretty low" on the scale of consciousness and that in cases where a patient had a flailed chest, (numerous ribs broken in more than one place, which inhibit normal breathing) intubation would be necessary if a patient were to survive.

Crown witness Dr. A. W. Lackey, a surgeon specialist from Lindsay, also stressed the importance of the intubation process in a patient with severe chest injuries.

"If you were going to save the man's life, he had to have an endotracheal tube," Lackey said. He told the inquest that patients who are conscious can be intubated if a local anaesthetic is applied to the back of the throat in spray form.

Lackey also told the inquest that Faulkner's low blood pressure indicated severe internal bleeding, and that to maintain his blood volume, two, three or even four interavenous hookups might have been required.

Lackey downplayed the threat Faulkner's other injuries posed to his life, and emphasized the significance of treating the chest injury and compensating for internal bleeding.

"The combination of those two things (a flailed chest and blood loss) are lethal," he told the inquest.

But pathologist William Dalkins expressed a different point of view. Asked if in his opinion any medical treatment could have saved Faulkner, given the severity of his multiple injuries, Dalkins replied: "I doubt it."

Other testimony at the inquest centred on the circumstances which led up to the accident.

A number of witnesses, including Steven Wrightman, at whose house Hutchings and the other teenage victims had been attending a party, testified that Hutchings had been drinking, but that he did not appear impaired.

But evidence from Albert Hall, a toxicologist with the forensic sciences laboratory in Toronto, showed that Hutchings had a blood alcohol level of .167 at the moment of his death, (more than twice the legal limit of .08). The reading would be equivalent to ten ounces of whiskey or gin in the system of an individual who, like Hutchings weighed 170 pounds, Hall said.

Identical tests on a blood sample from Donald Faulkner indicated that he had an alcohol reading of .148 at the time of his death, approximately three hours after the accident occurred.

Tests were not carried out on Barbara Faulkner, since it was clear that she was not the driver of the Faulkner vehicle.

Rodney Gorgevatt had a blood alcohol reading of .078 at the time of his death, while Penny Phipps had a "mere trace", of .017, according to Hall. Wendy Schell had no alcohol in her blood, and none of the victims had any drugs in their systems, Hall testified.

The five teenagers, with Hutchings driving, Penny Phipps in the middle of the front seat and Rod Gorgevatt on the passenger side of the front seat, Wendy Schell in the rear seat and Joe Dollo seated behind Hutchings, were southbound when the accident occurred.

According to evidence from OPP identification officer Sergeant James Moore of Peterborough detachment, Hutchings' vehicle left the road in front of Foster's Store, travelled 235 feet down the shoulder in a slide, crossed the southbound lane and entered the northbound lane, in a sideways attitude, where it collided with the front of the Faulkner vehicle. Faulkner did not brake before the impact occurred.

Eric Kreuger, a forensic engineer who examined the two vehicles, testified that mathematical analysis of the skid pattern left by Hutchings' car indicated that the vehicle was travelling at between 80 and 100 miles an hour when it went into the skid, and that it was travelling at 60 to 80 miles an hour when it collided with the Faulkner vehicle. Kreuger estimated that Faulkner was travelling at 37 to 56 miles an hour at the instant of the collision.

Subsequent questioning from lawyers revealed that the speedometer of the Faulkner vehicle was stuck at 62 miles an hour following the crash, a figure which Kreuger testified was not out of keeping with his estimate of the speeds involved in the collision.

The forensic engineer also testified that the Hutchings vehicle had radial tires on the front and bias belted tires on the rear. The differing adhesion characteristics of the two types of tires caused the rear of the car to break away from the pavement first, and resulted in the 'yaw' or sideways slide that led to the accident, Kreuger testified.

A small pothole through which Hutchings drove when he left the roadway was a "negligible factor" in the mishap Kreuger testified in reply to lawyers' questions. Speed was the main factor, he emphasized.

The jury deliberated for more than four hours before bringing in its verdict, and a change had to be made in a portion of it before presiding coroner Dr. John P. McKay would accept it. (Coroners' juries must not imply blame or negligence in their verdict).

The recommendations, that doctors, nurses and ambulance staff have continuing upgrading in emergency care procedures, and that the dangers of combining bias ply tires with radial tires on one vehicle be more widely publicized, will be circulated to a number of agencies for consideration.

Enumeration process now underway

Enumerators are busy canvassing the county this week in hopes of having complete voters' lists by the end of the week, according to the Victoria-Haliburton returning officer Kay Boyd.

The enumerators, working in pairs will be travelling door-to-door to make sure every eligible voter in the particular polling district is on the list.

To be a qualified voter in this provincial election, scheduled for March 19, a person must be 18, a Canadian citizen or British subject and have resided in the province for the last 12 months.

When the enumerators complete the list of electors, it will be posted in a prominent public place and should be checked by every elector to make sure they are on the list, Boyd said Tuesday.

If an elector is not on the list, they should contact the returning officer's office in Lindsay at 324-8630 between February 23 and March 7, Boyd said.

Enumerators are nominated for their position on a political basis. In Ontario, since the Conservative party is in power, a Conservative is nominated for the first enumerating position and either the runner-up party in the polling district or the actual party in power, if not Conservative, will nominate a person for the second enumerating position. Hence, in Haliburton County each enumerating pair is comprised of a Conservative and a Liberal nominee.

Once the parties have nominated their enumerators the returning officer must approve and appoint them to the positions. The enumerators swear an oath and are notified they are now working for the returning officer, not the political party, Boyd said.

In the Victoria-Haliburton riding, advance polls are scheduled for Saturday, March 14 and Monday, March 16 from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Polls will be open in Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon, Minden and Haliburton, Boyd said.

Conservatives, NDP choose candidates

Both the Conservative and the NDP have chosen the men who will represent their parties in the upcoming provincial election on March 19.

David Murray, reeve of Fenelon Township, was nominated for the Conservative candidate post at the nomination meeting in Lindsay, Saturday.

Sunday, the NDP chose Art Field, president of the local association to represent the party in the election.

The Liberals will be holding their nomination meeting in Lindsay, Wednesday evening. Incumbent John Eakins is expected to seek out the nomination again.

Conservative candidate Murray, operates a lodge on Balsam Lake and is married with two children. He is a past warden of Victoria County in 1978, acts as the chairman of the county planning board and is an active member of the area conservation authority. This is his first attempt for a provincial office.

NDP hopeful Field presently heads the provincial riding association and has been actively involved with the NDP since its inception in 1961. He lives in Valentinia, near Little Britain, with his wife and three children and has worked for General Motors since 1956. He has acted as campaign manager in five elections and has run unsuccessfully for municipal offices previously.

With all candidates appointed within the week, the election trail should start to heat up as the issues are isolated.

Laundry robbed

Would-be thieves who attempted to break open coin boxes on dryers at the Minden laundromat were apparently scared off before they could get any money but not before they did a total of $240 damage to three of the boxes.

The incident occurred sometime last Saturday, according to police, who say they have no suspects at the moment.

Snowmobilers charged if driving on school property

Snowmobilers who operate their machines on the parking lots of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School and the senior elementary school, and on the road which links the two, will be reported to police from now on.

Gordon Sharpless, a supervisor for the county board of education, said Monday that a number of snowmobilers have been driving on the road and parking lots while youngsters are in the area, and while buses are loading and unloading. He said the situation could lead to injuries, and steps will be taken to stop it.

If snowmobilers must cross the school property, they should stay on the south side of the playing fields next to the railway tracks, Sharpless said. In that way the danger of a collision between machines and youngsters or machines and other vehicles will be minimized.

The registration numbers of snowmobiles which venture too close to the schools will be recorded, and the numbers will be passed on to police.

Municipality owns building society wants to purchase

The question of ownership of a cement block building appears to be solved as the Minden curling club and agricultural society have agreed to strike up a purchase proposal.

The cement block building, which housed the curling club's ice making equipment when the old building was in use, was offered to the agricultural society for $1,500. Although the curling club thought it had ownership of the building the agricultural society questioned the club's claim. At an earlier meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden council, society president, Jerry Pillsworth told council he felt the township owned the building so any payment should be made to the municipality and possibly a grant, in the same amount could then be made to the curling club.

At last week's regular council meeting, curling club members, Jim Garbutt and Don Blakey, agreed to the proposal. The agricultural society and the curling club will negotiate a mutually agreeable price with the amount being paid to the municipality, since it actually owns the building. A donation of the exact amount will then be made to the new curling club's building.

Scores of bowlers were on hand at Carnarvon Lanes Saturday to take part in the first annual Haliburton County portion of the Bowl for Millions campaign.

Funds raised will be used to help support the work of the Haliburton County Big Brothers Association.

Truck rolls, man suffers broken jaw

A 27 year old Haliburton area man suffered a broken jaw last Monday when his pickup truck left Highway 35 and rolled over.

William Cooper was south-bound when his truck missed a curve, climbed a snowbank and rolled over in the area of Foster's Store. Cooper was taken to Peterborough Civic Hospital for treatment.

The truck was completely destroyed, and damage was estimated at $5000.

Cooper was charged with having no driver's licence and with careless driving.

Two men escaped injury Thursday afternoon when a snowmobile went out of control and collided with a car.

Police say Nicholas Kilburn, 48 of Toronto was operating his 1972 snowmobile in Lutterworth Township when he attempted to climb a snowbank and fell off. The throttle on the machine stuck wide open and it took off down the Black Lake Road, entering Highway 35, where it collided with the side of a car driven by Douglas Grant Austin, 35, of Keswick. The collision caused Austin to lose control of his vehicle and it struck a snowbank. The riderless snowmobile then reversed direction, went over a snowbank and rolled down an embankment. The snowmobile was destroyed. Damage to Austin's car was estimated at $1,500.

A snowmobile accident north of Moore's Falls resulted in serious injuries for a Bolsover man on Friday.

Charles Dalton, 55, was operating his 1979 snowmobile on a public trail four kilometres north of Moore's Falls when he was thrown off on a curve and hit a tree.

Dalton was taken to Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay suffering a broken pelvis.

A collision between a tractor trailer and a pickup truck resulted in an estimated $2500 damage last Wednesday afternoon.

Police say Gordon Stiver, 61 of Minden Township was travelling north on Highway 35 through the north junction of Highway 121 when a tractor trailer unit which was proceeding west on Highway 121 slid through the intersection and struck the right rear of Stiver's vehicle.

Driver of the tractor trailer unit was James McCombe, 43 of Janetville.

Damage to the pickup was estimated at $2000, while damage to the tractor trailer was estimated at $500.

An 18 year old Willowdale man was charged with failing to yield the right-of-way at an intersection after a car collided with a pickup truck at the intersection of Highway 35 and Highway 530 at Carnarvon.

Peter Stevenson pulled into the intersection from Highway 530 and his vehicle was struck by a car driven by Koni Mary Lattner, 29 of Stanhope Township.

Damage to Lattner's car was set at $800 while damage to Stevenson's vehicle was set at $1000.

Owner notices at lunch stop

Trailer dragged, wheels missing

If you happen to come across a pair of trailer wheels somewhere between Ajax and Minden, the local OPP can return them to their owners.

The loss of the wheels, which police describe as a "slightly unusual occurrence" was reported to Minden OPP at 12:20 p.m. Friday by an Ajax woman who had stopped on the Highway 35 by-pass for lunch.

She and others had been travelling northbound on the highway in a pickup truck which carried two snowmobiles, and towing a trailer which also carried two snowmobiles.

Only when they stopped in Minden did they realize that they had been dragging the trailer, minus its wheels, for a considerable distance.

Needless to say the hubs and axle of the trailer were extensively damaged.

As yet the wheels have not been recovered as far as the local OPP know.

Snowmachine stolen two years ago, rider charged

A police check of a snowmobile operating on Trappers Trail last Saturday led to charges of possession of stolen property against an Alberta man.

A check of the machine last Saturday revealed that the vehicle identification numbers had been obliterated. P/C Al Bibby, who initiated the check, found other stamped numbers on the machine, and a search through the central police computer revealed that the machine had been stolen two years ago from the Hamilton area.

Police charged Shannon Gillis, 21 of Edmonton with possession of stolen property. The snowmobile was valued at $1500.

Club rental policy necessary to protect arena: committee

Fearing the new curling club building could entice rental business away from the arena, the recreation committee has asked for a rental policy from the club.

At a meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden council last Wednesday, recreation committee members Dean Elliott and Bob Woods told Jim Garbutt, Don Blakey and J.O. Jackson of the curling club, that a club policy would clear the matter up.

Problems arose at an earlier council meeting when a recreation committee member, Ken Bannon, said the committee was worried about the new facilities at the curling club might take business away from the arena.

"We're concerned you'll be campaigning to draw our clients away from us," Elliott told the curling club members.

But Garbutt, who has acted as a liaison member with council throughout the construction of the new building, said he had told council earlier that the new building would not operate in competition with the arena but that it would rent out its facilities.

"I said at that meeting that we do not intend to compete with the arena and I also said we want to run that building at no expense to the taxpayers," Garbutt said.

Although no policy has been agreed upon by the executive, Garbutt said the rent would probably be higher for the club facilities and the bar would be operated by club members.

The new building will be different than the arena's facility and is also limited to 133 people while the arena's auditorium is licensed for 200 people, Blakey told the council.

But deputy-reeve, Doug Pritchard was not satisfied, as he said the club's explanation of competition was not the same as at earlier meetings.

"I thought you said it would not be running in competition," Pritchard said to Garbutt.

Countering the remark, Garbutt said the club is not offering the same facilities as the arena so people who otherwise would take business out of the community will now be able to use the club's room.

Garbutt said some people don't want the arena type facilities and prefer lodges in other township's which have more atmosphere. He suggested that the new club will provide a facility with nice atmosphere.

The curling club would also be available for rentals when the arena was booked, club members said.

However, they emphasized the rental would help in the operation of the building so that it would not add to the taxpayer's burden as has the arena.

"If it can't be used for anything except curling that building is going to be a burden on the taxpayers," Blakey said.

In an effort to have a policy outlined, the recreation committee and the curling club executive will meet to draft a plan.

Survey finds fluoride program successful

A recent survey by the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge health unit shows 94.7 per cent of Haliburton county's elementary students are participating in fluoride rinsing programs.

The survey, carried out with the assistance of area school principals, discovered that all 72 elementary schools in the health unit area are participating in the program.

In schools with kindergarten classes, 47 of the 60 schools are including these children in the program.

Haliburton's average is above the area average participation level of 91.4 per cent. Victoria County's average stands at 93 per cent while Northumberland is ranked at 89.6 per cent.

Of the 72 schools, 52 schools have participation levels of 90 per cent or higher.

The program involves 14,902 students within the health unit area.

Six dollars stolen from rock group

A rock group performing at a dance at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Friday night returned to their dressing room to find that someone had stolen money the group had left in some of their clothing.

The cash stolen totalled $6. Police say they have no suspects.

A time to listen

Representatives of Haliburton County council will travel to Queen's Park next week for a meeting with the province's Attorney General, Roy McMurtry. The purpose of the meeting is to give McMurtry the message that this county needs 24 hour police patrols. Let's hope he listens and more importantly, let's hope that if he and his government are re-elected, they will do something about the problem.

The timing of the meeting, which was set up before the provincial election was called, is less than ideal. The issue is an isolated one, affecting a small number of voters. Solving it, even if it could be done quickly, would do little to ensure that the government returns to power; and returning to power is, after all, the reason behind the election call. Yet in a larger sense, the issue of police protection in Haliburton County is but one example of the approach the provincial government has taken to an issue which touches the lives of almost everyone in the province. For years the strength of the Ontario Provincial Police has been frozen at 4000 men; that despite increases in population and with it, increases in the crime rate and in the burden of protection the force is called on to provide. Unless the government commits itself to reasonable increases in expenditure for police protection, the quality of that protection will continue to decrease.

It is clear that the police in Haliburton County have more than their hands full trying to cover an area of more than 1600 square miles. More men are needed at the very least. Ideally, there should also be a sub detachment in Haliburton Village to help service the eastern and northern sections of the county. But there will not be a sub detachment, or even enough men to provide 24 hour patrols, unless the provincial government is willing to spend a little more to upgrade one of the most essential of services.

In an effort to make political hay while the emotional sun is shining, premier William Davis recently announced that his government, in its magnanimity, will provide some $1.3 million for bullet proof vests for the entire OPP. The gesture will, he hopes, score political points with the electorate. And it is not without justification. But it is also not enough. That $1.3 million would pay the salaries of more than 50 new officers, officers who, shared among understaffed detachments like the one in Haliburton County, could afford better police protection for the public.

The delegation from Haliburton County intends to tell the attorney general about the problems the police and the public face in this county. The delegation should be listened to, and the public it represents should demand that the government alter its priorities on the crucial matter of police protection. There is no better time to get that message across than during an election campaign.

A life and death matter

Friday afternoon, following two full days of testimony and more than four hours of deliberation, a coroners jury into the inquest of Donald Faulkner and five other people, handed down its findings and recommendations. The presentation of the verdict ended an emotionally charged inquest that had been marked by conflicting testimony from a number of witnesses and disturbing revelations about the severity of the injuries suffered by the victims.

For the families of the six people who died, the inquest served an important purpose. It revealed the truth about the circumstances surrounding the accident for the first time. But the second purpose of the inquest, to determine if anything could be done to prevent similar deaths in the future, proved more difficult to serve, for a number of reasons.

Because the jury could not imply blame or negligence in its verdict, it had to tread carefully. Because much of the testimony dealt with medical matters that were, and must remain, largely a matter of judgement, the jury could not come up with the specific recommendations about emergency procedures. And because the matter alcohol consumption and its contribution to the accident was not dwelt on to any great extent by lawyers or witnesses, the jury did not attempt to tackle the problem in its recommendations. Indeed, it may have been all but futile to do so.

But on one key matter the recommendations of the jury could have been stronger. Evidence from the forensic engineer indicated that the mixture of bias ply tires with radials was a contributing factor to the accident. Coroner Dr. J.P. McKay suggested to the jury that education about the dangers of the mixture might be improved but said he didn't think legislation on the matter was necessary. His feelings were echoed by some of the lawyers at the inquest, but at least one lawyer urged the jury to recommend legislation prohibiting the tire mixture.

To do so would have been a more positive step than simply calling for more education. As it stands, people will continue to mix the two kinds of tires, even if they know the dangers of doing so are substantial. If garages were prohibited by law from installing such tire combinations however, and if police could issue tickets to drivers whose cars carried two kinds of tires, highways might be just a little bit safer.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Haliburton Red Cross Hospital Auxiliary I would like to thank you for printing, last week, the picture showing the new defibrillator to compliment one of two heart monitor machines at the Haliburton hospital.

We would like all your readers to know that this project was completed only because of the financial support which we receive from the residents of our county and their friends. Generous donations from individuals, memorial donations, senior citizen clubs and from women's organizations are gratefully received.

Our main purpose is to supply needed equipment for the comfort and healing of the patients in our hospital - our next project is a much needed Ultra Sound Machine for the Physiotherapy room.

May we take this opportunity to thank all those who have helped us reach this goal and to invite new members to join our auxiliary - just give me a call at 457-2522.

Yours truly,
Catherine Wilkinson,
President,
Haliburton Red Cross Hospital Auxiliary

As others see it

While justice may not be in the Collingwood spirit of this time of year, it's worth a comment in the hope that the new year might bring with it some stability and severity to that system.

For while discretion on the part of the judges, when sentence is being considered, may be a healthy thing it seems that the sentencing pendulum has swung far out of keeping with any consistency.

Most people will agree that a first-time offender, convicted on a minor charge, might warrant some sort of "break" in the hope that the convicted person will learn a lesson and never be a lawbreaker again.

But to give a "break" to a person whose actions are despicable to the hard-working, honest person doesn't seem just.

Take for instance the sentence given a young man in Toronto recently. He, and a companion, picked up a 21-year-old woman, abused her with total violation and then dumped her out of a car onto a snowy street, naked.

For all these hoodlums cared, she was dead. Indeed, she might have frozen to death in the cold, or been seriously injured as they dumped her from their vehicle.

One of the men was sentenced to eight years in jail, and the other whose involvement was of a lesser nature - was sentenced to four years in jail.

It's all enough to make anyone sick, when one considers the crime against the woman. When one thinks of the time-off-for-good-behaviour factor, it could be expected that the criminals will be back on the street in a time frame shorter than their sentenced term. While the victim carries the mental scar for a lifetime.

And what about crimes against the mind? For indeed, that is what drug traffickers are perpetrating. Our courts are namby-pamby, it seems, when it comes to dealing with cold and calculating profiteers...the drug pushers; those people who sell narcotics.

In the first place, a well bank-rolled person who faces charges of drug trafficking will probably hire the finest of legal counsel with those tainted profits already accumulated (who knows how much illegally-made money is stashed?) And then there's the defence that the offence is a first-time one.

Chances are that even convicted, a drug-trafficker - who should be locked in stocks and spit upon - will face a fine that hardly dents the bankroll.

What a mockery of the judge and the judicial system!

It's probably enough to make good policemen shake their heads, if not cry, as those convicted strike off for the street, the wet noodles streaming from their wrists.

A judge's job is not easy. With the greatest of wisdom, and considering what's right under the circumstances, sentence must be administered to those convicted of crime.

But some crimes, such as drug trafficking and those involving the abuse of innocent people, warrant the full wrath of our courts.

What will bring that about faster than anything, is society's demand for stiffer sentences. That won't happen unless now-lethargic people speak out by writing to members of parliament. Those who don't break the law have nothing to fear.

The protection of society should be paramount in sentencing and sentences should not only teach a lesson to those who break the law but serve as a deterrent to those who consider illegal activity.

As it stands now, some sentences don't lend credence to that adage that "Crime does not pay". Conversely, the criminals consider the sentences as "licence money". Much in the same way that the average Joe who consistently gambles on not getting a parking ticket, shrugs his shoulders when he has to pay a two-dollar fine.

The big weekend that we have all been waiting for is just about here. It's that time to start to focus your attention on one of the biggest weekends of the year and that's the time for the annual Haliburton Winter Carnival which will be held this Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 20, 21 and 22. We hope that you enjoyed the Haliburton Winter Carnival Supplement which was inserted in last week's issue of the Haliburton County Echo. We have attempted to place extra copies of this supplement in most business places in Haliburton and surrounding area and we hope that you will pick one up either now or during Carnival time. Remember that they are free for the asking. This special supplement in news and photo form, will keep you up with all of the various activities which will be taking place during the weekend. Every event that we have been made aware of has been listed in this supplement so there is no need of me going into anymore detail on it. What remains now is the big event itself and if the weatherman plays ball and if everyone will participate we can all look forward to a pretty good time. Just a final reminder here; now is the time to turn those coloured lights back on that you had lit up over the Christmas holidays and please leave them up until the carnival is over.

The Lake Kashagawigamog Tourist Association and the Haliburton Minor Hockey Association are to be congratulated on the success they are having with their three hockey tournaments which are held annually at the arena in Haliburton. The Pee Wee Tournament was held in January and the Atom Tournament was held last weekend. In an effort to stage these big tournaments, it takes the teamwork of a great many people. Many other communities where there seems to be a lack of cooperation and people who are willing to work at it, find it very hard to get a hockey tournament off the ground. This is not the case in Haliburton where teamwork and just all out and out hard work has paid off to the extent that these two annual events are proving to be a terrific boost to the local economy. When these tournaments swing into action business really picks up and it seems that everyone gets a piece of the action. In an effort to stage a minor hockey tourney with sixteen teams from all parts of Ontario, it takes the work of not only those dedicated people in the two associations who sponsor these events, but also the cooperation of many people in the community. It would be impossible to name everyone who is involved, but once again we would like to say thanks for a job well done. Now we can look forward to the two tourneys that will once again be held in 1982.

The Jack Robertson Memorial Bonspiel is scheduled for Wednesday, March 4 at the Haliburton Curling Club. The Rotary Club of Haliburton are hoping to have five rinks in the spiel. This is always a very popular event.

With all the problems in the world today we are glad that we can report some cheerful news for a change. Our congratulations to the Haliburton C.G.I.T. girls and their leader. They made decorated soaps and a valentine for each person who received "Meals on Wheels" last Friday.

The nomination convention for the Victoria-Haliburton Provincial Liberal Association will be held on Wednesday, February 18, 1981 (to-night) at the Royal Canadian Legion on York Street in Lindsay. Registration is at 7:00 p.m. and the meeting is at 8:00 p.m.

On Tuesday of this week Mrs. Gordon Neville of Haliburton phoned in to tell us that she spotted two crows near her home on the Parish Line.

The outstanding motion picture "Pilgrim's Progress" will be shown at the West Guilford Community Centre on Sunday, February 22 at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome and admission is free.

I heard a couple of complaints over the past weekend that the Snowmobilers' Guide and Trail Map which is put out free, is hard to find in the Haliburton area. I overheard one out of town snowmobiler complaining that he had looked all over the village on Sunday but couldn't locate one and he said that he would be willing to pay $1 if someone could locate one for him. In conversation with a restaurant owner in Haliburton I was told that only ten of these maps were placed in their place of business and they went in not time flat. The Snowmobilers' Guide and Trail Map, which is distributed by the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association, is a good one and this is why it is in such great demand. This is the third year of printing of this publication and it's a very important document, especially for the out of town snowmobiler.

Now that the 1980-81 National Hockey League schedule is down to about a month and a half to go I think it's a good time to look back over what has happened up until this time. One thing in my opinion that really stands out is the fact that once again the teams played too many tie games. In looking over the scores following each night's action in the league one could find tie games all over the place. When the fans go home after watching a tie game it seems to me that they have been cheated. They didn't see a winner. Let's hope that the next time that the owners and players association sit down they can iron out their differences and come up with overtime for the 1981-82 season. Overtime is one of the most thrilling parts of a hockey game.

The Induction Service for Rev. John James will be held at the Haliburton United Church this coming Monday, February 23 at 8:00 p.m. A fellowship will follow and everyone is welcome.

In closing why not make plans now to travel to Haliburton this coming weekend for the annual Haliburton Winter Carnival. It promises to be a time of fun and frolic and a time to renew all of those old acquaintances.

The Haliburton Winter Carnival is coming up this weekend so we thought it would be a good idea to run a picture from our scrapbook of photos of winter carnivals gone by. This is just what we are doing and this one takes us back to the second Haliburton Winter Carnival which was held in 1970 and the crowning of the carnival queen. The scene is the stage at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School and it shows Connie Crarey (last year's winner), placing the crown on the 1970 winner, Alexandria Young. The two princesses from the left are Paula Mankin and Glenda Cameron. The gentleman shown hidden in the background is Art Ward who was acting as master of ceremonies and was also co-chairman that year of the entire carnival. Photography was by Dal Hubbert of Haliburton.

Bill Smiley

It's extremely difficult, as any columnist knows, to please all of the people all of the time. In fact, if this column had done so, it would be extinct. Half my readers get so mad at me that they can't wait to read the next column, so they can get madder. The other half sort of enjoys it, forgives my lapses and looks forward to what the silly twit is going to say next week.

In the last couple of weeks, I've had some letters from both sides. A Manitoba editor is thinking of cancelling the column. Reason? "Too many columns dealing with personal matters." I quote bits from his letter:

"While it is understandable that family members are dear to Bill Smiley... I feel our readers might tire of too much wife name-calling and how the grandboys are behaving. Once or twice a year would be sufficient."

I should be so lucky. You are quite right, sir. Once or twice a year would be sufficient, for the grandboys' visit. But I have never called my wife a name, unless you consider The Old Battleaxe or The Old Lady to be pejorative. You should hear what some men call their wives.

And from Vancouver, a young mother writes to say, "Keep on writing about your family and grandboys. I love these columns."

The editor was fair. He added: "Columns, other than family-related, are good and have received favorable comment from our readers."

Thanks. I get letters from religious people who accuse me of being the right-hand man of the Devil, when I jestingly remark that God must have been out to lunch when he was drawing up the menu for this year's winter.

I get letters from other religious people who send me dreary tracts and letters full of Biblical references, with the hope that I will print the lot.

And I get letters from still other religious people, mostly clergy, who enjoy quibbling with me over a point but urge me to continue writing as I do, to make people think.

I get letters from Tories who accuse me of being a Liberal because I don't think Joe Clark is the Second Coming (there I go again.) And I get letters from Liberals who swear that I'm a blatant Tory simply because I don't believe the Second Coming has already come, in the form of Petit Pierre.

But on the whole, it is not exactly a dog's life. I remember receiving a fairly vicious editorial blow from a weekly editor who said I wrote too much about teenagers, because I am a school teacher.

I retorted with a bit of tongue in cheek. In high dudgeon, he cancelled the column. It's still going. I wonder if he's still editor of that paper, deciding what his readers can read. (Had a number of letters from his subscribers supporting me, none supporting him.)

I receive letters from places like Baker Lake, N.W.T., exhorting me for talking about the tough winters down here, which to them is almost the deep south.

And I get a letter from my kid brother, retired and living in Florida, with pictures of the house, flowers, pool and an outline of his day: coffee and morning paper, walk down the beach with the dog, etc. The swine. Wait till the Florida flies get to him in July and he wants to come north and visit for a month. No room at the Smiley inn, little Smiley.

On the whole, the letters I get are delightful. A typical example came in the other day from Bill Francis, Moncton, B.C. He says such nice things about the column that I blush even to read them, and would never put them in print.

But more to the point, his letter is witty, informative, alive. He's no chicken, a W.W.I. infantry private. I'll quote a bit.

"Though obviously a man of sound common sense, I wonder how, in your youth, you got involved in flying a fighter plane, let alone risking combat in one. (Ed. note: me too!) I remember during those war years, watching a young fellow land his old Avro Anson like a wounded pelican in the middle of our freight yard and walk away from the wreck looking a little sheepish. Soon after, and nearby, another boy flew his Harvard trainer at full speed into a grove of trees one foggy morning. He didn't walk away from that one."

Speaking of education, he says he attended five different schools and doesn't think much of today's big schools. Of the new permissiveness: "Anti-social behaviour today may be blamed on everything from sun spots to Grandpa's weakness for women and hard liquor, which all agree is a vast improvement on the old concept." A strapping at school and another at home for being strapped at school.

His last school was graded "superior," because it taught to Grade 11. Equipment consisted of a tray of mineral specimens, the remains of a cheap chemistry set, and a leather strap, but managed to turn out a number of people who went into the professions.

Bill Francis says: "The school's rather good record was due not only to excellent instruction, but also to drawing, from a radius of five miles around, those whose eyes were fixed on distant goals and whose legs were equal to hoofing it back and forth. There was nothing wrong with my legs and I lived nearby."

"Just a little light upstairs, they said; a handicap I've learned to live with."

"Now, some seventy years later and a little wiser, I have become just an old fellow round whom the wind blows in the laugh of the loon and the caw of the crows and the wind whistles by so dreary

Report from Parliament

by Bill Scott, MP

The long-awaited Small Business Development Bond program, proposed by the Progressive Conservative government in 1979, but side-tracked when that government was defeated, finally passed through the House on February 4, 1981.

This proposal attracted so much public support in the 1979/80 election campaign that it was picked up by the incoming Liberal government and was included in its mini-budget last May.

However, except for draft legislation that never came before the House, the proposal was not acted upon. There was some concern on the part of the Official Opposition that the measure would be allowed to die on its planned expiration date of March 31st.

Responding to constant pressure from the Progressive Conservative Party Members in the House to extend the deadline to December 31st, 1981, the government finally relented and included the Bond program in a bill to amend the Income Tax Act.

When this bill is passed by the Senate and receives Royal Assent, which is virtually assured, the program will provide for low-interest loans to small businesses, in amounts ranging from $10,000 to $500,000.

The rate of interest will vary, according to the prevailing rate of interest at the time of borrowing, but is expected to be about half of the going rate, plus approximately two per cent for handling.

This low rate will be possible because the average tax rate on earnings from interest by lending institutions is about 50 per cent. This tax will be waived by the government on all loans made under provisions of the Small Business Development Bond program, and this saving will be passed on to the borrower.

Small businesses must be wholly Canadian owned to be eligible for loans under the SBDB program, and any recognized lending institution will be able to take part in the program. This is construed to mean chartered banks, trust companies and credit unions.

SBDB loans can be applied to the purchase of property that is to be the sole property of the borrower, or to finance qualified expenditures. The money cannot be used to purchase an automobile, or any transportation equipment except where the vehicle will be used to transport passengers for hire. Repayment period for these loans cannot be less than one year, or more than five years.

Prospective borrowers under the SBDB program must approach their bank or other lending institution for particulars of the program, and for application forms. There will not be any necessity to contact any government agency to apply for loans, unless there are circumstances that require decisions to be made by the government.

A small business under the Act is a taxable Canadian corporation that is a small business corporation or cooperative corporation with assets not in excess of $750,000.

Prospective borrowers are cautioned that the criteria and qualifications for obtaining SBDB loans are the same as for applying for a conventional loan, except that the interest rate is much more attractive. It is an arrangement, in the conventional sense, between the borrower, his or her bank and the government.

Somerville to conduct housing needs study

The Township of Somerville have been allocated $7,099 to conduct a municipal housing study, while the township of Bexley will receive $6,047 for the same purpose.

Awarded in response to a request from the municipality, the grant will assist in the preparation of a housing statement. This determines the municipality's housing needs and establishes housing targets to meet them, while ensuring that local housing targets are integrated with overall provincial objectives.

The municipal housing study will involve a detailed housing market analysis by type of housing, price range, income groups served and the availability of serviced land for future use.

Ministry of Housing study grants are designed to encourage active municipal participation in the identification and development of local housing needs.

Beaverton wins tournament St. Anne's take consolation

Beaverton Midgets took home the Tim Harrison Memorial trophy as they squeaked a championship win over Woodville 1-0. The Beaverton team was presented with the championship trophy by parents, Norm and Betty Harrison at the Minden arena on Saturday night.

In the consolation championship, St. Anne's from Peterborough defeated Haliburton 5-4 to win the trophy.

The one-day tournament began with Minden and Haliburton facing off. Haliburton scored the first goal of the game with Steve Smith putting it in the mesh unassisted. Minden answered the goal on a shot from Eldon Bull, assisted by Greg Austin.

Minden then took the lead as Kevin Hamilton and Ivan

Ingram teamed up to score. In the second period Haliburton bounced back with a goal by Scott Mitchell from Dave Nicholls.

But Minden was not to be kept down as Kevin Hamilton and Ivan Ingram scored the winning goal in the third period. Minden moved into championship play as Haliburton was ousted into the consolation round.

In other first round action Beaverton defeated the Oshawa Canadians 4-3 and the Kitchener Canucks outplayed the Oshawa Bruins 5-3.

Woodville also took the victory away from St. Anne's in a close 2-1.

In the championship semi-finals Minden lost its game in the first period as Beaverton put two unanswered markers in the goal.

In the second period Beaverton put another shot past Minden's net minder to widen the lead to three. But that goal was answered half-way through the period as Ingram and Hamilton teamed to put Minden on the scoreboard.

Neither team scored in the third period. Final score 3-1 for Beaverton.

In the other semi-final match between Woodville and Kitchener, the temperature was rising as Kitchener disputed a goal at the end of the second period. There was no scoring in the first period but Kitchener got underway with the first goal. Woodville quickly rebounded only to be out-done by another Kitchener goal.

But Woodville was keeping up with its southern competitor as the boys put another goal into the Kitchener mesh. The game was tied for nearly two and a half minutes when Woodville scored again.

Immediately Kitchener protested the goal, saying the blue light signalling the end of the second period flashed and the buzzer sounded be-

The Scoresheet

Minden Tykes lost their home game to Lakefield on Sunday. Final score was Lakefield 1-0.

Minden Novice were put out of the best two of three series with Haliburton in Minden last Tuesday.

In the first period Haliburton scored with Shaun Perrin putting the puck in the net unassisted. But Minden was quick to respond with a goal by Kent Taylor from David Lee. Minden's Joey Boyle then gave the team the lead on a shot from Darren Sawyers.

Minden kept its lead throughout the second period with neither team scoring.

In the third period, Haliburton's Shaun Perrin tied the game and Jeff Stamp put the Haliburton team out in front as both boys scored unassisted.

Haliburton continues to advance in the championship round as Minden plays the winner of the Ops-Fenelon Falls series in the consolation games.

Minden Atoms were defeated at home last Thursday. Bobcaygeon won the match 3-1. Dwayne Cooper assisted by Aaron Davis Shaw scored Minden's lone goal.

Minden Midgets took a win in round robin playoffs against Bobcaygeon at home last Sunday. In the first period, Bobcaygeon put the first marker on the scoreboard but Minden replied with a goal from Craig Coneybeare with the help of Andrew Shapiera and Greg Austin.

In the second period, Minden moved into the lead with Ivan Ingram scoring from Eldon Bull.

In the third period Minden racked up its final goal from Andrew Pristol and Bob Edge. Minden's Goalkeeper Terry Crowe minded the home team's net well.

Final score Minden 3-1 over Bobcaygeon.

Bantams win series, to meet Beaverton

Haliburton's Tri-County Bantam team defeated Cannington in two straight games to take their best of three playoff series and will now meet Beaverton in another three game series.

Saturday the local squad travelled to Cannington for game two of the series and came up with an easy 10-2 win.

In the opening period Haliburton scored twice, at 5:52 off the stick of Robert McKee, who was assisted by Dave Giles, and at 3:02, when Eddie Dupe teamed up with Scooter Burgess and Kevin Sicard.

Cannington narrowed the gap to one at 9:02 of the second period, but Haliburton opened up for three more in the frame to take a 5-1 lead into the third period. Scoring for Haliburton in the second were Dennis McKee from Jeff Bain, McKee from Bain, and Tim Winter from Lenny Johnston and Giles.

In the third period, Haliburton once again completely dominated the action, scoring five more goals before Cannington could answer with a single marker.

Getting the goals for Haliburton in the third were McKee unassisted; Dupe from McKee; Giles from Johnston, twice; and Giles from Brian Morrison.

Schedule for the next round of playoffs against Beaverton has not yet been announced.

Two wins give Novice series over Minden's boys team

Haliburton Novice defeated Minden last Tuesday in Minden to take their best of three series in two straight games.

Haliburton scored first in the opening period when Shawn Perrin connected on a pass from Pat Casey at 9:28, but Minden came back to take the lead before the period ended, on goals by Kent Taylor from David Lee at 7:16 and Joey Boyle from Darren Sawyers at 4:21.

Neither team was able to connect in the second period. In the third, Haliburton came storming back to tie the score at the 9:24 mark as Shawn Perrin got his second, assisted by John Vuksic.

Less than a minute later, at 8:32, Jeff Stamp found the mark for Haliburton, assisted by Perrin.

The lead held for the rest of the period and Haliburton took home a 3-2 victory to end the series.

Atoms down Sunderland in two straight playoff games

The Haliburton Tri-County Atoms wound up a best of three series against Sunderland on Sunday by handing the Sunderland squad their second straight defeat.

The opening game in Haliburton Thursday was a one-sided affair, as the local squad scored six goals in the opening period and coasted through two more periods to take a 6-2 victory.

Scoring for Haliburton in the first period were Scott McKee from Charlie Franklin, McKee from Darren Warburton, Steve Prime from Sheldon Perry, Jason Smith unassisted, McKee unassisted, and Randy Bird unassisted.

Sunderland's only scoring came in the third period when they came up with two goals.

In the second game of the series Sunday in Sunderland, the local boys put on a strong showing, scoring five goals while holding the home team to a single marker.

Neither team got on the board in the first period, but Haliburton opened up in the second, scoring at 7:03 off the stick of Paul Goulet, assisted by Jeff Emmerson.

In the third period the local

INTERVIEWING SKILLS FOR THE EMPLOYER

This workshop will cover the objectives of interviewing. Too often an interview takes the form of a chat, without exploring the candidate's suitability of a particular job. Items covered will include

- Interviewing as a communications process.
- Pre-interview "homework" - determining what requirements you really need to fill the job.
- How to structure and control an interview.
- Developing interview techniques; in particular the "funnel and pyramid" concepts.
- Interview evaluation and selection criteria.
- Problems in interviewing.
- Impact of Canadian human rights legislation.
- Workshop session.

LKTA Atom tourney awards go to Kingston

Minden takes best sportsman-like team and the best 'B' goalie awards on Sunday

Sixteen atom teams filtered into the Dysart arena to compete in the Lake Kashagawigamog tournament this weekend. While Kingston took the grand championship match and Bowmanville the grand consolation final, Minden's team worked its way to the "B" consolation championship match before losing out to Milton on Sunday. The Minden team was awarded the most sportsman-like team trophy which was presented by Myrtle Davies in memory of her son. The Minden goalie, Darrell

Walker was named the best goalie in the 'B' division. The action began Friday night with Uxbridge downing Hillcrest 4 - 1 in the 'A' division. Glanbrook was ousted into consolation play in a 5 - 1 loss to Thornhill. East York edged by Leaside 5 - 4 and off the mark in the third frame with Nicholls scoring off a pass from Ben Packard. Nicholls realized his hat trick in the last half of the period with assists from Cooper and Dean Brownson. The final score was Haliburton 3 - 1 over Peterborough.

Haliburton's stars of the game were Nicholls and Cooper.

In other first round 'B' division play Bancroft blanked Milton 5 - 0 and Humber Valley slaughtered Lakefield 19 - 0.

In Minden's first goal of the tourney, the local boys lost 4 - 3 to Keswick.

At the end of the first period the two teams were tied at two all with Minden's goals scored by Scott Russell unassisted and from Greg Stamp assisted by Russell and Dwayne Cooper.

In the second period Keswick broke the tie and added another goal for a two point lead at the end of the frame.

Minden came back with another unassisted goal by Russell in the third but the team just couldn't put another marker in the mesh to tie the game. Russell was Minden's star of the game.

On Saturday Kingston was winding its way towards the 'A' championship title as the team defeated East York 5 - 0. Thornhill also shut out Uxbridge in a 4 - 0 victory.

In the 'A' championship match Kingston again recorded the shutout as the boys scored the only goal in the game.

In the 'B' division Haliburton lost its chance to take the championship title as Bancroft knocked the local boys out in a 2 - 1 game.

Haliburton was the first on the scoreboard with Ron Perrin scoring unassisted.

In the second period Bancroft tied the score and then put another marker in the net in the third period to move on in championship play.

In the other semi-final, Humber Valley defeated Keswick 6 - 1.

Humber Valley then kept Bancroft scoreless in the 'B' championship game. Final score in favour of Humber Valley was 5 - 0.

In final round action Kingston won the grand championship match over Humber Valley to be named the tournament's top team.

In the 'B' division consolation round, Minden picked up its first win by beating Lakefield 4 - 1.

Lakefield scored its only goal early in the game to mark up the only point of the first period. While Lakefield held the lead through most of the second period, Minden picked up speed with only 15 seconds remaining. Dwayne Cooper scored with the assistance of Scott Russell to even the match. Just six seconds later Derek Allison enlisted Cooper to assist on

Coming of Age

Next month the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association will celebrate its tenth anniversary. It is not anticipated that there will be any great fanfare to mark the occasion - at least I have not heard of any elaborate birthday party planned - but the club does have reason to celebrate.

During the ten-year history of the H.C.S.A., there have, of course, been many ups and downs. Fortunately the ups have overcome the downs and steady, though sometimes painful, progress has been made. When we compare the snowmobiling scene of the early seventies with what we have and enjoy today we see that we've come a long way in those ten years.

Few of us could envisage, ten years ago, a system of groomed snowmobile highways stretching to all corners of our province upon which we could head out confidently to ride a hundred miles or more in a single day. In those days, 30 miles was considered a long trip and very often turned out to be a bone-jarring and nerve-shattering ordeal.

Just last evening - 7:30 p.m. Saturday - a group of six riders dropped in at my place to enquire about the condition of the Gooderham trail. They had come from Emily Park since early afternoon and were about to head for home. Their round trip, I am sure, would add up to more than 150 miles! All were members of the Twin Mountains Snowmobile Club of Bobcaygeon.

Another great stride forward will be made on February 28 with the official opening of SNO Five, the second in a series of provincial snowmobile trails which will shortly form the skeleton for a province-wide trail grid. The H.C.S.A. is proud to be a part of it. The trail winds its way from the Fenelon Falls junction with SNO One to Pembroke and passes through six snowmobile clubs and three MNR districts.

As you ride along the trail you will note a profusion of trail markings. Each club will have its own identifying signs, sections funded through the MNR will carry directional signs and hazard warnings provided by the ministry, and the retro-reflective orange blazers of the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs are used as "reassurance" markers. These will be found mainly at road crossings and trail intersections and occasionally in between to let you know that you have not made a wrong turn.

These SNO TRAILS, of which One and Five are only the beginning, are perfect examples of what can be accomplished when many snowmobilers, working through their clubs and the federation, begin to pool their

In 'B' group play Haliburton took its only win of the tournament against Peterborough.

Haliburton started the action in the first period with Erin Nicholls scoring from Jaro Cooper. Peterborough answered back in the second period to tie the game.

Good skating and passing abilities moved Bowmanville into the grand consolation winner's seat at the tournament on Sunday.

Extendicare News

by Dr. W.O. Anderson

Monday afternoon Charlie Stormer held a class in carpentry with a good turnout making mug trees. These are made from odds and ends of white pine and the finished product stands 15 inches tall with a five by five inch base, a two by two inch D & S from which here and there are pegs of 5/16th inch dowelling (six in all). As a mug is washed it is placed on an upward slanting peg, maybe to dry or any case to store until needed again. The young chaps learning the trade sure did work hard.

Bible study was conducted Tuesday morning by Pat Burk who read from the book of Ruth and of her return to Bethlehem a widow, a patriot to take her place in Israel as before and remarry into wealth to produce a son destined to be named Obed, grandfather of King David. In those days famous people were great, but now there is a great decline of greatness.

Betty Wise and Bernice Ross were volunteers for our Tuesday's bingo, Ray Smith and Allan Macklin took turns calling. It was a splendid game enjoyed by all.

We are informed that Norman Craig was transferred to other treatment facilities in Peterborough. In human nature hope is dominant, and regardless if we are not progressing as we think we should in one place, it seems to give us a new outlook to move to another. Norman was handicapped, spending his time as a wheelchair resident, not participating much in our activities.

Just in time for his evening meal John Sisson of Haliburton was admitted to the gang, quickly settling in. The gang does not have many eager beavers but just maybe.

Monday morning the weather man gave his weather prophecy over 101.5 FM. Peterborough and we are quite sure he predicted 27 meters of snow before evening. That would have been a hefty fall that did not happen.

The snow we are getting can be construed as being too much, but again how much snow in a Haliburton winter is too much? We doubt if anyone knows.

We are trying to learn why all this clamour for a constitution is about when for the past 75 years we all thought Canada was a good place to be born in or immigrate to, but politicians at Ottawa seem to think their role is to mess it up and that is what they have done. Canada is now divided to the extent we can never again be united. The chief grandstander that has messied it up no doubt keeps mumbling to himself 'I'm the greatest' while the tragic irony is that Canada is unable to elect any other grandstander. The conservatives are in the dumps in that when they get a decent leader some conservative monkey wants to dump him. May we suggest that Canada should put all this messing up and dumping aside and not take it up until we can think straight. Then the question of rights comes up and apparently ever since confederation we the Canadians have had no rights. And yet why does a convicted murderer over those years and especially lately have more rights than the victim or his family to the extent the courts act as though they are afraid to punish the criminal too severely? And now rights are to be added to the criminal's welfare even though he has murdered a police officer. They will have no many rights that it soon will not be safe for Canadians to venture forth, leaving only the politicians with body guards at the guard's peril. What a mess they are making and how helpless we are, especially in the years ahead.

Nancy Picard and Peggy Neville came again Thursday evening to give us more cheer. Any old song that comes along Nancy can play it and Peggy can sing it making the evening so delightful and entertaining. We are planning to coach some of the more nimble residents, especially the ladies, to do some step dancing to liven them up and also the show.

It will not be long before we start planting the summer flowers indoors coaching them along to be put out by June 1, a chore that has to run parallel with preparing a document for the tax man. No more jigsaw puzzles until those two are taken care of, unless one is fortunate enough not to have any tax to pay or if we have, it is lots of fun to do it ourselves. There seems to be a sort of pun here, but any chore can be made to be fun if we look at it the right way. There are certain rules to follow and all we need do is follow them, then make out the cheque if called for.

Rev. Rick Brewster conducted the devotional period Friday morning, the 13th. This time it was unusual that he came alone with no pianist. He chose as his text the biblical time of Jeremiah, one of the prophets, who exhorted his people to put away their evil and depend on God for safety in return for which God will grant them peace.

Most of you no doubt are aware of Jim Cooper of Gideons International in Canada. Away back in September, Jim offered to host four members of the Happy Gang in his summer home in Florida. As it turned out only two of us could accept - the writer and Alice Hartle. We take off from the international airport on Thursday, February 19, arriving three hours later in Florida. After a full week of basking in the sun we return on the 28th. Sheila Elston is taking us down to Toronto and picking us up. Do not think that we the lucky ones underestimate the tremendous generosity extended by all. If at times we have been critical of Canadians travelling abroad it was simply to point out that all of it adversely affects the Canadian economy due to much subsidy to encourage Canadians to travel. Putting it in another way, the Canadian taxpayers are helping to pay for our visit.

Our jigsaws have become interesting in that we began to run into too many absences, so we tallied to date. The count was 990 all told in a puzzle that had 1008 when made and yet it may be that if no more pieces are mischievously picked up and swallowed, it may be an added challenge. A further curiosity prompted us to tally a 2000 (2016) piece donated puzzle that we have and it tallied 2022, certainly not short, the extra being a slip in the count. This tedious count reminded us that as a child our uncle Johnny Anderson had a 2000 tree sugar bush, two hired hands, a well matched and trained team of horses drawing logging sleighs on which was a 300 gallon sap gathering tank, and a 2000 tree capacity Grimm evaporator to produce 1000 gallons of fine maple syrup every year, fueled by no other than bush debris gathered and sized during the winter. 2000 maple trees are quite a bush and a 2000 piece jigsaw is quite a puzzle. Who said that "we are a part of all that we have met".

We began the week with our regular activities on Monday. Several residents turned out to the fitness program in the morning and later to crafts in the afternoon.

Monday evening was movie time in the auditorium. "To The Top" showed the full construction of the C.N. Tower. This is the world's tallest standing tower. It is open to the public daily and offers a striking view of up to 75 miles from some 1100 feet above the ground. There is a space deck observation area which is the highest in the world at the 1500 foot level, the view is breath-taking. The Second Reality was a very interesting story about photography.

Tuesday morning Rev. Wicks of Minden Gospel Church held service in the chapel. Rev. Wicks started the service and then turned it over to Linda Shultz who is a missionary in Colombia, South America. Linda had some beautiful slides to show and told us of God's work and love in this part of the world. Everyone enjoyed the service very much.

Later in the afternoon, we held bingo in the main lounge, for all our bingo lovers.

Tuesday evening our residents gathered in the lounge for music night. Mr. Bill Payne and Mr. Eldon Deacon were here to provide some lively entertainment for us. Our residents always enjoy and look forward to music night. Our thanks to these gentlemen for coming and especially on a night when the weather was so poor.

Thursday afternoon, the ladies from Haliburton Baptist Church brought a tasty assortment of tea breads and fresh fruit for the tea party. We spent a nice afternoon enjoying the tea and the visit with the ladies. Later in the evening, the Kinsmen were here to call the numbers for the weekly bingo game. I understand there were quite a few lucky winners.

We ended the week of activities on a happy note with Grace Coburn leading us in the sing song. We sang some hymns and old favourites and thoroughly enjoyed the piano music played by Lucille Clark.

Minden close to win in 'B' consolation final match

the next goal.

With a one-point lead, Minden went into the third period confidently, marking up another goal from the Allison-Cooper team and Cooper scored off the stick of Sheldon Stevenson for the team's final goal. Both Cooper and Allison were stars of the game.

Minden then moved on to meet Milton in the 'B' consolation championship. Milton previously defeated Peterborough 5 - 4 in semi-final action.

In the consolation championship both goalkeepers were in top form as they kept the puck out of the mesh until the third period when a Milton player scored unassisted. Minden was not able to put a marker past its opponent's netminder.

In 'A' consolation round play Glanbrook lost to Hillcrest 5 - 2 while Bowmanville also racked up a 5 - 2 win over Leaside. Bowmanville moved on to take the 'A' consolation championship away from Hillcrest in a 6 - 1 battle.

In the grand consolation championship final Bowmanville took a convincing victory over Milton, 10 - 1.

OPP Report

The Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police report the following activity for the period of February 9 to 15. A total of 13 motor vehicle accidents were investigated, 12 reportable (damage over $400) and one non-reportable. Five persons were injured in the accidents, four of which involved snowmobiles.

Promises of God

If any of you lacks wisdom, he should ask God, who gives generously to all without finding fault, and it will be given to him. But when he asks, he must believe and not doubt, because he who doubts is like a wave of the sea, blown and tossed by the wind.

SSFC woodsmen team wins third

The men's and women's woodsmen teams of Sir Sandford Fleming College's Frost Campus finished in third and second places in their respective divisions at the Woodsmen Competition held January 31 at MacDonald College in Montreal.

Competing against 38 teams from across eastern North America, the seven-member men's team finished the week-long competition with 1,073 points, coming in first in the chainsaw event.

The eight-member women's team, competing against 11 other squads, logged ed 748 points, coming first in the Swede sawing, quarter split, dot split, and axe throw.

Coached by Forestry teacher David Hendry, the Frost Campus teams competed against teams representing MacDonald College, the University of New Brunswick, the University of New Hampshire, Nova Scotia Agricultural College, Lakehead University, Syracuse University, and the University of Maine.

DISTRICT NEWS

Wilberforce News

by Winnie Schofield

A baby shower was held at the Legion hall last Wednesday night to welcome the new son of Denise Abrams. William Joseph Alexander was born in Bancroft on January 31. He was a fine baby of 7 lbs. 4 oz. Little sister Charlotte is pleased with this addition to the family as are the proud grandparents Eunice and Clem Peters.

A fish derby is planned by the Legion Branch 624 to take place on Grace and Dark Lakes on Saturday, February 21. Contestants can register at the Legion hall from 7 a.m. Weighing in will be at 5 in the evening.

A lovely little daughter arrived for Jim and Judy Fairhead. It was their first child and was born in Toronto. Donna Vanessa is a new grandchild for Donna Herbert of Wilberforce.

The Wilberforce Curling Club held their annual Silver Springs Invitational mixed bonspiel on the weekend. The rink of Tony Berning won first spot with that of Merv McNeely of Norwood coming in second. Third place went to skip Fred Berning and Bancroft rink, skipped by Steve Tripp, was fourth. The participants enjoyed a meal served by the ladies of the curling club.

There will be a book exchange at the library this week. This monthly service is provided by the Haliburton County Library. The shuffle of books keeps new material on the shelves and is an excellent method of exchange within the ten library branches.

Those interested in our Centennial year would find the book "Lady of the Backwoods" brimming with information about the trails and achievements of the family of Catharine Parr Traill who arrived with her husband from England in the year 1832 and settled in a thickly wooded area near Peterborough. The courage and determination of these people who had to carve a home from the forest and overcome great tragedy and loss, really touches the heart.

They. You and your group do a spectacular job all round. Congratulations to Gertie Crichton who won the $160 bingo jackpot at the "Coby" Legion on Thursday night. She won it on the 54th number.

Mary Gillis isn't feeling too well these days following her car accident in which she sustained a broken rib.

The Kinmount Firefighters broomball team downed the Norland team by a score of 6 to 3. I'm told only six of our boys showed up at the arena and all 6 played straight through with Bill Menard in goal for the complete game. Good going, boys!

Coboconk News

by Shiela Lake

Mrs. Ruthann Pinder of Fenelon Falls (nee Hannivan of Coboconk) was honoured at a stork shower at the home of Mrs. Jean Barkwell a week ago. She received many lovely baby gifts and the new arrival should have made his (her) debut by the time you read this!

Sincere sympathy to the family of the late Russell Brohm of Norland who was an uncle of yours truly. Uncle Russell, a life-long Norland resident had attended Sunday School and Sunday morning worship on Sunday, February 8, died very suddenly.

He will be missed in the community and our thoughts are with his loved ones. The day of his funeral was a very stormy day and that evening, another life-long area resident, passed suddenly away. Mr. Harry Stapels, who has made his home with my aunt and uncle, Myrtle and Ross Faulkner for many years, also suddenly passed away and the funeral was held Friday, February 12. Our sympathy to the Batty family, his immediate family in the area.

Rev. and Mrs. B. H. Cross motored to Ottawa on Thursday to visit their son-in-law who is very ill in an Ottawa hospital, and visited their daughter and family.

On Monday, I had the pleasure of attending the Avon presidents club banquet-meeting at the Notawasaga Inn at Aliston.

Several Minden-Haliburton area ladies attended including Edith Johnson, Dorothy Bain and Lola Sims of Haliburton; Diane Vickery of Cardiff; Marlene Pelcher of Minden; Leitha Greston of Ingoldsby and myself. We all had a lovely time and came home, each with a lovely pendant watch and other gifts.

Ben and Ethel Farrow journeyed to Cannington and visited his aunt Nettie Farrow last Saturday. She has since gone into a Toronto hospital for leg surgery.

Congratulations to Fanny Richman on her birthday, February 15. "Toots" tells me Ernie (Barkwell) is doing well following knee surgery in Lindsay Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay. Ernie is one of the congenial employees of the local L.C.B.O. Ernie is managing very well with crutches but looks forward to discarding them! Arnold and Marie Rutter went to Kingston for the weekend and will attend her nephew's wedding there.

Word is out that a Vic Ply employee hit the jackpot and won himself $25,000 in a recent lottery draw. Congratulations, Rick Moore!

On Thursday evening I had a late motor trip to Toronto. Our little grandson, Christopher, has been very ill all week. When Heather phoned desperately needing someone to babysit downstairs to the nursery, I sought help from great grandma and Pam. Ethel Farrow went along for company back on the long trip. We left shortly after 7:30 p.m. and reached the apartment about 10 p.m. After a brief visit and a cup of tea Ethel and I headed home to Coboconk, leaving grandma and Pam to help out. We came home via Taunton Rd., Oshawa, Pt. Perry to Manila and found the road much better than Hwy. 12 down through Whitby-Brooklyn way. We got home about 20 past 12 midnight - very tired! Winter-time late night driving is not my idea of a pleasure trip but when the need is urgent, I'll gladly go. The Charlie Brothersons are enjoying a bus trip in the sunny south.

Mrs. Ada Irwin of Lindsay visited her sisters, Myrtle Faulkner and Annie Marles, also the Fralicks on Friday.

Kinmount Korner

First of all, the family would like to thank all the kind people who have cared enough to send "get well" and Valentine cards to Jason Moss. To all who have been phoning and coming to ask after him, your thoughtfulness is appreciated. To Father Brooks of St. James Anglican in Kinmount and to another Anglican priest in Huntsville, thank you for the prayers from you and your congregations. Jason has also enjoyed the little gifts sent by some of you and he said "thank you". He was sent home from Ross Memorial after a further two weeks in Pediatrics and after a few days at home and having to be taken to the doctor and to hospital a number of times, it was decided on Thursday that he should go to the Sick Children's Hospital. A helicopter was called to transport him but a critically hurt man, involved in a car accident at Dunsford was taken instead, to Sunnybrook Hospital and Jason and his mom, Lorrie, went by ambulance to Sick Children's.

Father Raymond Hart is having a well earned holiday in the sunny south, playing golf and giving hockey a whirl with the "Flying Priests". Sympathy to family and friends of Russell Brohm who passed away this past week. Mr. Ray Cox is a patient in Peterborough Civic after having suffered a slight heart attack.

Jane Rolfe was back to work last Monday after a few days of the flu. If you should have any old or broken fishing reels that have outlived their usefulness, give Ida Young a call at 488-2367. She saves them.

Hugh Magee of RR1, Norland, was the lucky winner of the Norland Firefighters' hockey pool on Saturday, February 7.

Heinz and Margaret Int-Veen have left for England to visit their parents and should be back home in about a month's time.

The Wednesday night euchar at Galway Hall was called off due to the very bad weather that night but never daunted the Crystal Lake group took their sandwiches, cakes and even the prizes to the nearest cottage to play. Peanuts and Jo Davidson were hosts and Alma Harper was games chairman. They had three tables and the results were: men's high: Peanuts Davidson, men's low: Ken Yorke, ladies' high: Jo Davidson, ladies' low: Elsie Littleproud.

Ken and Betty Stuart and Muriel Nightingale are all down with colds.

Happy birthday to Melanie and Brian Tassle and to Gertie Crichton.

Ray Hobbs and Ida Young visited the Burnt River Recreation Centre on Thursday evening for a game of euchar. They were made to feel very welcome and were asked to extend the invitation to all, to join them at the rec. hall for euchar and a lunch at 8 p.m. any Thursday.

It's nice to hear some of you ladies comment on the various recipes you've tried from this column and if you have a recipe or a tip you'd like to pass on, why not give me a call at 488-2399? Ida Young said she made the spice-strawberry cake and said it was delicious. Here's a recipe from the Hr. Grace book that looks like it may be tasty. It's called "Strawberry Dream Cake". 1 tub frozen strawberries, drained, 2 - 3 oz. pkgs. of strawberry jelly powder, 2 cups of milk, undiluted, 3 sliced bananas, 1 pkg. Dream Whip, 1 angel food cake. Partially set jelly with 2 cups boiling water and then whip. Add milk and whip again. Fold in fruits. Line bottom of tube pan with layer of jelly mixture, then layer of cut-up cake. Fill pan with alternate layers until jelly is used up. Let set in refrigerator about 6 hours. Frost with Dream Whip.

Thank you Gertie and Dave Crichton for the newsletter, New Horizons, "On The Move". I look forward to Stephen Bell of Toronto, spent last weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bell.

We still hear stories of fish being caught in this area. Craig Mintz caught an 8 lb. trout in Koshlong Lake while Ted Hadley secured a nice 5 lb. trout in Pine Lake.

The Girls' Club of the United Church, under the leadership of Mr. Maurice Bradley, had its second meeting last Monday night with quite an increase in attendance, which was encouraging. Plans were discussed for future meetings. On Friday night the boys organized their group. Boys from age 12 to 16 are invited. Interesting projects are planned.

Barbara and Doug Higgins of Mississauga spent the weekend with Barbara's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cary.

The committee in charge of planning another supper sponsored by the Tory Hill Pastoral Charge of the United Church met last Friday. Here it was decided to have a supper on May 23 in the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre, Wilberforce. More details will be given later.

We are sorry to report that Jack Hunter is hospitalized in Florida where he has been spending the winter months. We wish him a speedy recovery and hope to see him home in the near future fully restored to good health again.

Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

It seems our January thaw is coming in February, which mixes me all up but I'm sure this will explain it all. Weather maps are quite a hurdle, strangely crafted and designed. I resent them when a word'll bring me perfect peace of mind. Highs and lows and fronts and arrows, pressure points and warning belts - all this talk is for the sparrows, I'm confused - and nothing else. Hence, good weather man, depict, you who chart and mark and plot, please be a simple brief predictor - is it going to snow, rain or not?

Mrs. Vera Ward spent last week in Barrie visiting with the Jack Taylors and Vick Prudhams.

Churchill Heights School Board composed of students from Grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 came to Haliburton County for a country weekend. This band is from Scarborough, and played at several schools in the county then they, their parents and teachers, toured Kandalore, The Frost Centre and Martin's Lumber Mill as well as doing some skiing before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith of Toronto and Mark, Peter and Vicki Niblett, also of Toronto enjoyed a visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Grant recently.

A bore is a person who talks when you want him to listen to you.

Young Tom Prentice was the winner of the 2nd chance draw at Mac's Country Mart last weekend.

Don't forget that the afternoon skating at the arena from 2-3 p.m., sponsored by the Minden Nursery and play school is back on its usual schedule Thursday afternoons.

Miss Laura Bird of Toronto spent the weekend with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bird.

The mini card party winners last Thursday afternoon were: cribbage - Lil Porter and Diane Stevens. Euchre - lone hands, Ileen Crarey; Alice Morrison and Johann Beattie.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Ball of Toronto spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Grant. You have not lived today until you have done something for someone who can never repay you.

Miss Lori Wrightman of Toronto spent the weekend with her parents.

The Fireside Restaurant is open again and have their

Sunday evening smorgasbord on their menu.

"Ham Fritters" - 1 cup cooked ham, chopped) 1 cup sifter flour; 1 tsp. salt; 1 tsp. baking powder; 2 eggs; ¼ cup milk; 1 tbsp. shortening softened. Combine flour, salt and baking powder. Beat eggs and stir in to milk. Add to flour mixture. Stir in ham and shortening. Drop by teaspoonfuls into deep fat (365 degrees). Fry for 4 minutes. Good alone or with cheese sauce (makes 4 servings).

The U.C.W. Martha group will hold their meeting in the church hall on Wednesday, February 25 at 7:45 p.m. Alice Morrison, Ileen Crarey and Gladys Wruth visited in Peterborough and Bridgenorth recently.

Remember experience is a hard teacher because she gives the test first, the lesson afterwards.

That rain last Tuesday night sure played havoc with a number of places around the area, what with the water backing up people were kept busy Wednesday mopping up.

Adios and take care now.

Farm News

Agriculture Canada announced an Income Tax change affecting farmers last week. This year, for the first time, farmers can deduct wages paid to their spouse as an expense on their income tax returns.

In a Ways and Means motion made in Ottawa on April 21, 1980, it was proposed that all small independent businessmen, including farmers, be allowed to claim a deduction for wages paid to their spouse effective January 1, 1980. Although the bill to enact this change has not yet been passed by parliament, Revenue Canada decided that in light of the anticipated legislation, farmers may claim the deduction on their 1980 tax returns. In the past, farmers could not claim wages paid to their spouse. Cont'd. page 12

Last Monday a birthday party was held for Mary Oliver at her home with approximately a dozen local folks attending. Then on Thursday, Nora Crego's birthday was celebrated with about nine others, for lunch at Maggie Kyllie's house. Later, at the senior citizens get-together, at the Kinmount Legion, there were 20 of the group sat down to birthday cake and ice cream. Many happy returns, ladies.

Joan and Ken Hyams enjoyed an evening of card playing with Ruby Schell at her home recently.

The Tuesday night euchre at St. James Hall went on as usual, even though the weather was so bad. There were only eleven hardy souls showed up but lunch was enjoyed. I'm told Ruby Schell took ladies' high, David Anderson took the men's high and also held most lone hands, men's low was Jack Hills and ladies' low, Betty Lonsdale. For another week, take care and have a happy day.

Isn't it great to have the longer hours of sunshine - and hopefully warmer days? Winter sure has been severe and very, very long! Congratulations to Gertie Crichton who, on her 77th birthday, February 11, won $160 at the Coboconk Legion bingo. How many can win $160 on their birthday?

The New Horizons "on the move" club celebrated their eighth birthday on February 5 but held their official celebrations on Monday, February 9. Dorothy Brown made a beautiful cake and Madge Morris and May Mitchell organized games, etc. There were colorful party hats,

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Alton were guests of honour at a lovely dinner held at Brynall Manor recently. The dinner was courtesy of the Bexley Fire Department of which Harold is a member. The dinner was whatever they wanted, and there were two lovely cakes. George Shepherd Jr. was master of ceremonies and presented Harold and Flo with a lovely card and a fifty dollar bill. Harold and Flo were thrilled and appreciated the thoughts and love of their friends.

Mr. Robert Cruickshanks of Toronto and Robbie and Rochelle King of Lindsay were weekend visitors of the Harold Alton's.

When you're in construction, form follows function. Ask Mario.

He fills out the UI Record of Employment perfectly every time an employee parts company.

When you're in good company, stay in good form. Mario handles personnel and finance matters for his brother's construction company. And he knows that one of his responsibilities is to fill out a UI Record of Employment form every time an employee has an interruption in earnings. He knows that if he doesn't get it right the first time, he may have to do it again. So Mario took the time to get the booklet "How to Complete the Record of Employment" from his nearby Canada Employment Centre.

Leaving in good form.

The Record of Employment is one way we can make sure no one gets short-changed and no one gets overpaid. This saves time and money for everyone involved. Mario found out that the most common mistake in reporting the "Insurable Earnings". Insurable earnings are not necessarily the same as payroll earnings. Because Mario fills out the ROE accurately, ex-employees don't have to come back to him for changes. And neither do we.

It's just good business to be in good form.

At Unemployment Insurance, we process about 4,000,000 Records of Employment every year. Last year, employer mistakes in filling out the form cost at least $125,000,000 in overpayments. Plus the cost of recovering those overpayments and penalizing or prosecuting.

We're out to cut down that $125,000,000. And we're going to do it, together.

A very heartfelt and generous thank you to each and everyone who have contributed to our well-being in the total loss of our home by fire on January 13. Special thanks to the Gooderham Fire Dept., also Pearl Foster, Shirley Stamp and Caroline Andrus and everyone who were so kind in organizing the shower at the Tory Hill school, where we received gifts and donations of money.

A special thanks to Glen Billings and Bill Watson who organized a benefit dance on February 7 in Wilberforce, also all the people who donated for the dance and our neighbours who helped out with it. Thanks to the Red Cross and the many M.T.C. patrol men who were so generous with their donations of money. God bless you all for your kindness.

Along the Trails

resources for a common purpose. The Ontario government has hailed the effort because it is seen to tie neatly into the conceptual trail plan that the Ministry of Natural Resources has been attempting to develop for a couple of years.

The O.F.S.C. took the initiative after a poll of their clubs clearly indicated a desire for inter-connecting trails. The Ontario Snowmobile Industry Association backed the plan with assistance funding for signs, and the Ontario government gave the plan official status with a promise of improved maintenance funding on the major routes.

With SNO One and SNO Five opened this winter, the O.F.S.C. is most optimistic that an additional four routes will be ready for next winter.

These will extend the grid to the Ottawa Valley, to the Niagara Peninsula, to Sarnia and to Sault Ste. Marie. Connecting links, or alternate routes will be established between the major trails. One of these, SNO 1/5, is in place already through the Paudash Trail Blazers' system and awaits only the funding to provide the necessary official signs. This trail will surely be given a high priority next year.

spouse. As a result, farm wives who worked full-time or part-time in the farm operation could not file a tax return on a share of the farm income, or make contributions to the Canada Pension Plan.

Now, farmers may pay a salary or wages to their spouse and deduct this from their gross farm income. The spouse must file a separate income tax return by April 30 and report the wages received.

Farmers who did not actually pay wages to their spouse during 1980 are not eligible for this tax deduction this year.

Qualified Entry, Holstein-Friesian Association

The Qualified Entry Program proposed by the Canadian Holstein Association was passed at their annual meeting on February 11.

The program allows breeders of purebred Holstein-Friesian cattle to register calves born from superior females which are not eligible for registration.

For a female calf to be accepted in the Qualified Entry Program, it must be the progeny of a bull registered in the herd book of the Holstein-Friesian Association and a Holstein-Friesian cow designated as a "Qualified Dam".

Only cows identified in the National Identification Program as the fourth known generation (D) at least, are eligible for designation as "Qualified Dam".

The cow must also be classified Good Plus or better and have produced at least one official milk record which meets one of the following requirements:

(a) At least 120 BCA with a deviation from the herd of +20 or better, or, (2) 160 B.C.A. or better. Proper documentation will be required before a "Qualified Dam" certificate is issued.

Thank You

The Lake Kashagawigamog Tourist Association and Haliburton Minor Hockey would like to express their thanks to the many volunteers who spent so much time organizing and officiating for our three Hockey Tournaments this winter.

Also thanks to all those who took players from out of town into their homes for the weekends. Without the support of the community our tournaments could not have been so successful.

Kitchener disputes Woodville Midget goal

for the official blew his whistle to confirm the goal. If the goal was not counted, Kitchener would have won the match by scoring the first goal since no goals were scored in the third period.

During the dispute, tournament officials contacted head referee Ken Griffin and the Ontario Minor Hockey Association representative who said the referee's decision should stand.

In an attempt to settle the dispute, the teams played another ten minute period to determine the winner of the semi-final match. Woodville scored the only goal of the period to advance to the championship final.

In the championship game Beaverton blanked Woodville 1 - 0.

In the consolation round St. Anne's defeated the Oshawa Bruins 2 - 0 to move into the consolation final.

In the other consolation semi-final Haliburton edged out the Oshawa Canadians 2 - 1.

The Haliburton boys were a fine match for the Canadians with both net minders in top form as neither team scored in the first two periods.

Only 36 seconds into the third period Haliburton scored with Steve Smith shooting from Scott Mitchell. Both teams kept the puck moving but couldn't hit their mark as nine minutes passed before the Canadians evened the score.

With the score tied and the consolation trophy looming near, the Canadians pulled out their net minder, but that was their downfall.

With only nine seconds remaining Scott Mitchell scored unassisted into the empty net. Haliburton then moved into the consolation championship match against St. Anne's.

Haliburton had control of the match from the beginning and it seemed like an easy victory until St. Anne's pulled together in the final period to score four goals.

In the first period, Haliburton was quick off the mark as Steve Smith scored from Dave Nicholls. St. Anne's answered the goal but the Haliburton team kept them quiet for the next two periods.

Dave Nicholls scored off the sticks of Fred Roberts and Smith. Scott Rae marked up another goal for the team with the assistance of Nicholls and Smith.

In the second period, Haliburton continued on its scoring streak with a goal from Rae's stick on a shot from Smith.

As the Haliburton team waltzed into the third period with a three goal lead, the future looked bright but St. Anne's was not to be outdone. The Peterborough team scored the final four goals to take the win.

The most valuable goal tender award was presented to Tim Deremo of Haliburton.
